From Plastics to Popcorn—

Third Annual Jaycee Home Show Has Ideas For Every Resident Who Visits Exhibition

Everybody seemed to be having a grand time Wednesday night at the Home Show sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Convention Hall at Liberty Park was really jammed with people. Couples young, old and in between were looking over every little detail of the refrigerators, stoves, cabinets and dozens of other things for the home. There was real interest on their faces, whether someone was explaining all the new ideas or whether they were just finding them for themselves.

The electronic stoves seemed to hold the attention of the crowds that gathered about and there was an amazed look on the faces as a sack with an ear of popcorn was put in the oven and only a few seconds later came out all popped. And then there is the opportu-ity to win a trip to Europe. How? Why, by naming a glass-lined water heater.

Speaking of water there is the submergible pumps for dependable water service. It is the freeze-proof pressure system installation which complies with the local sanitary codes and may be easily installed. The pitless adapter eliminates above-ground piping at the well head.

The Home Show is a place of comparison, with every exhibitor trying through talk, demonstration and literature, to prove that what he sells is best. Take insulation for instance. The exhibitors at the Home Show have a complete line which includes wool, wood, fiberglass and various other types that may be blown in, poured in, or in blanket form.

For the outside is enameled aluminum lap siding that needs no paint for years, reduces winter fuel bills and gives added protection. That comes also in vertical paneling. There are asbestos siding and asbestos shingles, vinyl plastic paint for indoors and outdoors, paints of all colors and kinds for every need. It would be wise to pick up some of the literature on this, too, because much of it not only tells the kind of paint to use, but also exactly how to paint.

How to put on plastic tile, too, is demonstrated at one of the booths, which is a help to a do-it-yourself man. Start each piece of tile by putting the top part against the one above it and moving it down until it falls in place. Then there will be no cement, or what-ever holds it on, oozing out between. There is also that perfectly balanced concrete and mortar in a bag for some one who wants to do a little work around the house, such as walks, driveways, basements or fish ponds.

There are built-ins for the kitchen, any type and anything that might suit the fancy of the queen of the kitchen. In plumbing there are sinks that are just the thing needed, there are stoves of all kinds, electric, gas and electronic. There are ready built snackbars. And there are dishwashers.

Floor coverings included asphalt tile, linoleums and carpeting, and for walls there is real wood paneling that you can install yourself.

For comfort there are air conditioners, room coolers and fans of all types. There are frameless (Please turn to Page 6, Col. 6)

House, Senate Deadlocked On Allotments

Senate Conferees Want to Keep Most Of Extra Requests

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Speaker Roy Hamlin (D) of Marion County said today a deadlock has developed between the House and Senate over building fund allotments from the state's $75 million bond issue — with money to modernize the state penal system the main issue.

He reported Senate conferees want to keep most of the increases they slapped on funds Monday and Tuesday for the state's colleges, universities and hospitals. The difference would be wiped out, he said, by taking "a hell of a lot" out of a pending $15,000,000 allotment for the Department of Corrections.

That bill has passed the House but is still pending in the Senate. It calls for $10 million to create a new medium security prison away from the main penitentiary and $1,200,000 for a new women's prison.

The Speaker urged House members to stay close by because otherwise the Senate might put across a reduction in prison funds.

And Rep. Samuel B. Murphy (R) of St. Louis County, minority leader, urged speed on the final appropriations so the special session could be ended yet today. He questioned whether the Legislature could legally work tomorrow under a constitutional provision limiting special sessions to 60 days.

Rep. Omer Avery (D) of Lincoln County, majority leader, said he also was apprehensive about the legality of holding the session open tomorrow. Gov. Phil M. Donnelly has concluded the 60-day limit does not end until midnight tomorrow night.

Rep. Joseph M. Martino (D) of St. Louis, House appropriations chairman and a member of the Senate-House conference committee, reported to Hamlin the deadlock was serious and might force the session into tomorrow.

Scattered Showers, Thunderstorms Seen For Missouri Friday

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Scattered showers and thunderstorms are forecast for Missouri tomorrow.

The weatherman says they'll arrive if a little disturbance in Nevada this morning behaves according to schedule. It should move into central Nebraska by tomorrow and set off moisture producing clouds in Missouri.

Meanwhile fair weather with temperatures hitting the 70s in the north to near 80 in the south is indicated.

He Was Overruled

The weatherman seemed reluctant at first, but the apparent insistence of Sedalia residents made him cooperate beautifully with the Home Show at Convention Hall.

Partly cloudy tonight and tomorrow, with scattered showers and thunderstorms tomorrow; warmer tonight; low tonight around 55; high tomorrow in middle 70s.

The temperature at 7 a. m. was 56, 82 at 1 p. m. and 83 at 2 p. m. Low Wednesday night was 51.

The temperature one year ago today, high 90, low 51; two years ago, high 94, low 62; and three years ago, high 54, low 38.

They Leave Their Mothers Unnerved— Two Little Boys Have Their Own Drive for Cancer Money

There was a flurry of excitement in town Tuesday afternoon when the police and Mrs. J. F. Schumacher, general chairman of the Pettis County Cancer Society, were notified that two little boys were soliciting money for the cancer fund. About the same time the mothers of the two little boys, both families newcomers to Sedalia, were upset because their youngsters had come home with $3.10 for the cancer fund they had collected and the mothers didn't know what to do with the money.

It all happened when the little boys were in a store and heard some grownups talking about the cancer fund drive. The little boys are only about eight years old, but the talk about the cancer drive meant something to one of them. In the town where he came from, a little friend of his had died of cancer and he was seized with a desire to help in the drive, to get money to help other little boys who had cancer. About that time the owner of the store gave the youngsters each a small note book and a pencil with advertising on them and a short time later the children went home.

US Kicks Out Two Russian UN Diplomats

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has expelled two Russian UN diplomats on the ground they exceeded their authority in taking part in the return of five Soviet seamen to their homeland 19 days ago.

The State Department late yesterday handed a protesting Soviet Ambassador Georgi Zarubin a note ordering out of this country Aleksandr K. Guryanov and Nikolai Turkin, members of the Russian United Nations delegation. The note also criticized the head of the delegation, Arkady Sobolev.

The note said Guryanov and Turkin were guilty of "exceeding the scope of their official capacity" as members of the Soviet U.N. delegation's staff.

Under the U.N. headquarters agreement, the United States reserved the right to take action against any foreign official accredited to its government's U.N. delegation in New York City who engages in "activities outside of his official capacity."

While the U.S. note chided Sobolev, it did not demand his recall. It went no further than to request Moscow to tell Sobolev and his staff to mind their U.N. business henceforth.

Officials said Guryanov and Turkin were guilty of improper action because their U.N. status did not permit them to go to the Idlewild Airport, as they did with the seamen, and shepherd them through an immigration hearing as they left the country. If performed by a duly accredited consular official, such things are all right.

Russia closed its New York consulate in 1948.

In New York, U.N. sources said the international organization had been notified of the action in advance by the American delegation.

A secretary of the Soviet U.N. delegation said late yesterday no notification had been received at the delegation mansion in New York, and that he could not comment. He said Sobolev was not available.

Both Trukin and Guryanov were listed in the U.N. diplomatic register as accompanied by their wives. Officials here said Turkin had accompanied the five seamen back to Russia, and that he will be denied permission to re-enter this country.

Mo Pac Is Ready To Construct Large Kansas City Yard

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Paul J. Neff, president of the Missouri Pacific, said today the line is "all ready to go" on construction of a $10,000,000 double hump yard here as soon as the future of a trafficway is settled.

Neff said the facility will be the largest yard on the 10,000-mile Missouri Pacific system and will contain 76 tracks and space for 15,000 freight cars.

Start on the yard, to be located in the northeast industrial district, awaits final plans for a federal interregional highway system. Part of the trafficway would have to pass over Missouri Pacific tracks.

Open to All City Residents—

May 1 Is Deadline for Entering Sedalia's Yard of Month Contest

Entries for the "Yard of the Month" contest should be in by May 1. Rules and scale of points upon which the yards will be judged may be obtained at the Chamber of Commerce or from a member of the committee.

Entries continue to come in for this project sponsored by the city beautiful committee of the Chamber of Commerce but the time is drawing near for the contest deadline and those thinking of entering should do so at once.

The contest is open to all residents in the city limits of Sedalia and every Sedalia is asked to join in and help make this town one of real beauty.

Special features, such as a bed or border of blooming flowers or shrubs, rose beds, pool, rock garden, planter boxes, patio or terrace, picnic areas etc. are considered in the overall point scoring of the home grounds. However, if anyone would like to enter a special feature or planting that may be outstanding at a certain time, they may do so. This entry will be listed separately and will not be judged with the "Yard of the Month" entries.

The Chamber of Commerce is being assisted in promoting the plans for this contest by the nine garden clubs of Sedalia and the Sedalia Rose Society. Mrs. Herbert Seifert is chairman of the city beautification committee and the garden clubs and rose society are working closely with her in doing this worthwhile civic job.

This is the time to start cleaning up, too, with the week of May 7 being Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up Week. It is time to look around to see what dead trees and limbs, trash and unwanted things inside and outside the house might be piled into boxes or securely tied into bundles ready to be hauled away that week. The city will have a schedule for different parts of town and will take away everything placed in the alley or where they can get it. This is a free service offered by the city to help people get things cleaned up.

Look over the fences, arbors and lawn furniture, too, and then get out the paint and paint brush.

Set an example for your neighbors to follow by getting to work in your yard and find what you yourself will gain from the healthful exercise in your contact with the good earth and what fun it is to plan landscaping and a lovely flower garden then watch them develop into beauty.

Whiteman AB Is Presented Six Portraits

Purchased With Funds Donated By Sedalia Residents

Formal presentation of six colored portraits of Lt. George A. Whiteman to Whiteman Air Force Base, for whom the base was named last December, was made during a program on KDR-TV Wednesday night.

The enlarged portraits were purchased with funds donated by Sedalians as a memorial to Whiteman, the details of which were handled by the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce.

A prayer expressive in its tribute to Lt. Whiteman was given by the Rev. D. Warren Neal, pastor of the Broadway Presbyterian Church. James T. Denny, chairman of the military affairs committee of the Chamber of Commerce, presided, and also made presentation of the portraits to Col. Charles V. Neil, base commander, who gave an appropriate response of acceptance. Music was provided by the Sedalia Men's Choral Club with Abe Rosenthal, director.

A representative group of Sedalians gathered in the dining room of the Missouri Homestead with Mrs. Earle S. Whiteman, mother of Lt. Whiteman, to witness the television ceremony which all agreed was impressive in its personal reproduction excellence, presentation, and arrangements of background detail by the staff of KDR-TV.

After the ceremony, officers and wives of Whiteman Air Force Base were guests of the Sedalians at dinner at the Missouri Homestead.

Hamarskjold Makes Additional Progress In His Peace Mission

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold chalked up more progress in his Mideastern peace mission today as he wound up talks with Jordanian leaders.

Although nothing official was revealed regarding Hammarskjold's talks in Amman, well-informed sources reported Jordan is willing to go along with a pledge of a cease-fire and general armistice observance.

These sources added Jordan also was ready to agree for local commanders to seek ways of avoiding incidents along the frontier, and possibly to an increase in the number of U. N. truce observers on the border.

After a final conference with Premier Samir El Rifai, the secretary general in a statement said that "the whole field under the mandate from the Security Council (to secure observance of the Palestine armistice) was covered in the talks here and on all points conclusions have been reached."

Leimkuehlers Plan 2-Month Europe Tour

The Rev. and Mrs. Henry Leimkuehler, of Marshall, will leave Monday on a two-month tour of 11 European countries during which they plan to visit a number of foreign missionaries.

Rev. Leimkuehler, a graduate of the Baptist Seminary in Kansas City, Kan., has served the ministry at the Smithton, Mt. Herman, Antioch and County Line Baptist Churches.

He and Mrs. Leimkuehler are scheduled to begin their trip at 7 a.m. Monday when they will leave by bus from Marshall and expect to arrive in New York about 9 o'clock Tuesday evening.

Then on Wednesday, May 2, they will board the Queen Elizabeth to sail for England. The couple expects to embark at New Hampton, England, by May 7.

From there the Leimkuehlers will begin their tour of Europe, accompanied by a guide, a language interpreter sponsored by a traveling service.

Their first main stop will be London, and will travel through Switzerland, Denmark, France, Italy and other nations, visiting as many missionaries as they can. Included also in the Leimkuehlers' journey will be Monaco, where the former Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier were recently married.

Their final lap of the tour will take them back to England. There they will board the Queen Mary to return to the United States about July 3.

Rev. Leimkuehler said he anticipates an increased knowledge of missionaries and conditions existing in European countries by the trip.

Man Complains Only Of 'Slight Headache' When Shot In Head

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—A rifle bullet went through William H. Miller's head but he complained only of a "slight headache."

Miller told authorities his .303-caliber rifle discharged accidentally yesterday while he was cleaning it. The bullet entered just above his right eye.

He said he walked half a block for help. Doctors said there was no brain damage and called Miller's condition satisfactory.

Senator Asks Ike To Have Picture Made

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) asked President Eisenhower today to have his picture taken with the only two living former Presidents, Herbert Hoover and Harry S. Truman.

He wrote the President the suggestion originated with Ralph Theriault, of Warden, Wash., "as being worthwhile for historical reasons."

Farewells Begun By Russians As Talks Are Ended

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP)—Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev, from the vodka-drinking land of proletarian Russia, today invaded this home of Stuart kings and Scotch whisky.

The invasion was friendly and by invitation, but the Scots technically regard anyone from south of their border as invaders.

The Soviet Premier and Communist party boss flew up from London after placing a wreath on the grave of Karl Marx and beginning their farewells. They leave for home tomorrow following historic face-to-face talks with Prime Minister Eden.

Before journeying across the border, Khrushchev and Bulganin met again with British Socialist leaders and made a peace of sorts.

The Russians conferred with Labor party leaders for more than an hour and agreed with them on at least a token burial of the hatchet. A row had developed at a dinner given the Russians by the Labor party Monday night over the situation of Socialists behind the Iron Curtain.

Today Laborite officials reported another aspect of that dinner, saying Khrushchev told them the Kremlin might try at some time to negotiate a peace settlement directly with West Germany if the Western Allies stick to their present policies.

The informants said they got the impression the Communist boss was thinking in terms of such an approach after Chancellor Konrad Adenauer leaves office. Adenauer is a firm supporter of Western policy, under which the Western Big Three want to do the talking.

On the Russians' return to London tonight, Bulganin and Prime Minister Eden were to sign a joint communique summing up the results of the talks they wound up Thursday on such world problems as disarmament, German reunification, the Middle East and East-West trade.

The general expectation was that they would report progress only on lesser issues.

The Russians' goodbye talk with the Laborite leaders apparently soothed some of the hard feelings left by the earlier clash. Labor party leader Hugh Gaitskell told newsmen the get-together was cordial and "ended on a friendly note."

But authoritative sources said neither Khrushchev nor the British indicated any change in their feelings about Jews and Social Democrats (Socialists) imprisoned behind the Iron Curtain.

The Monday night dinner row was one of the dramatic highlights of the Russians' 10-day visit. At the Laborites' suggestions that Jews and Socialists were being persecuted behind the Iron Curtain, Khrushchev angrily brushed aside the questioning as "nonsense." He said there were no Social Democrats in the Soviet Union, and the fate of any elsewhere was no concern of his.

Soviet reaction to the clash indicated that the Russians felt Khrushchev had been deliberately provoked into language which shocked even the extreme left wing of the Labor party.

Next Royal Wedding May Be Japanese

By EDWARD R. KENNEDY
NEA Special Correspondent

TOKYO—(NEA)—If you think a couple of weddings in Monaco and Independence, Mo., stirred up a headline fuss, wait until you see what happens in Japan if Crown Prince Akihito ever picks a wife.

There's been gossip in the tea-houses and under the cherry trees that for the last four and a half years — ever since the Crown Prince was 17, it mounted when he turned 21 last year, and now it's at fever pitch.

The Japanese press has entered into this guess-who game with marked enthusiasm. All the large newspapers and magazines have added an "Imperial Bride" section. Each is determined to scoop its rivals.

One paper hired a former classmate of the Crown Prince as a tipster and waived the stiff competitive examination normally required of all would-be journalists.

Another is relying heavily upon staff members who have friends among relatives of the Imperial family or officials of the Imperial household. A magazine has two veteran newsmen doing nothing but keeping an eye on the blue-blooded daughters mentioned as possibilities in the Chrysanthemum Derby.

It's difficult to glean any authentic matrimonial hints from the Crown Prince's social calendar. He does not have dates or entertain mixed company. His fiancée will probably be a stranger to him socially.

As a result, great significance is attached to Akihito's most innocent contacts. Recently he spent an afternoon with a classmate at Kamakura, scenic resort south of Tokyo. Almost before the polite greetings had been exchanged, newsmen were frantically telephoning and searching their files to find out if the young host had eligible sisters.

The odds-on favorite of self-appointed matchmakers, pretty Hatsuko Kitashirakawa, was reported to be so bothered by reporters on her constant trail that she now rides to school in an automobile instead of taking the trolley. This naturally led to rumors that she is being groomed for the Imperial throne.

In the public mind, the prospects have been narrowed down to a field of about 20 candidates. Breeding, training and family conduct since World War II are heavily considered. All the girls are several years younger than the Crown Prince and are from families formerly in the peerage before it was dissolved by democracy.

Some handicappers prefer a girl reputedly named by the late Empress, Akihito's grandmother, on her deathbed. Others sort out the new democratic personalities and choose one who shares Akihito's love of jazz music and adaptability to Western ways.

The greatest probability is that Akihito himself will have nothing to say about it. But wait until you see the wedding.

Producers Cautioned To Provide Adequate Storage for Crops

Producers should take the steps needed to provide adequate storage for their 1956 crops, Chairman Staples, of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, reminds producers.

Special loans are available, the chairman explains, through county ASC Committee offices to assist farmers in building additional farm storage. An assistance may also be obtained from Federal and State agricultural agencies in planning the most efficient storage for local conditions.

Bins to be acquired by the Commodity Credit Corporation will be used only for CCC owned grains and will relieve the pressure on warehouses in storage-short areas, thus permitting more effective handling of producer-owned grains.

By acting early in announcing the intended purchase of up to 100 million bushels of additional bin capacity, the U. S. Department of Agriculture hopes to lessen storage problems in those areas where commercial facilities are most heavily taxed in caring for production from the 1956 harvest. The bins to be purchased — on an erected basis — will be metal circular bins with a 3,250 bushel capacity.

The nine states in which the bins may be used to ease storage problems this next summer, fall are Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Wisconsin and Ohio.

Buick CENTURY
4-Door 4-Door Buick
Model 63D

Makes Friends with the Meanest Roads

(Have you tried Buick's great new ride?)

THE SWEET WAY a '56 Buick rides on all sorts of roads is something you find nowhere else on wheels.

Capricious roads that twist and turn — unruly roads that rock and roll — tired roads, battered and beaten — they all seem to wear company manners the moment a Buick approaches.

Why? Simply because Buick comes with what it takes to put any road on its best behavior — the completely ride-engineered combination of chassis, engine and automatic drive that is obtainable in no other car.

And that's gospel truth whether you drive a new SPECIAL, CENTURY, SUPER or ROADMASTER.

No other car matches the firm, true tracking of Buick's own ride foundation — buttressed by brawny X-braced frame and torque-tube drive — cushioned on coil springs and deep-oil shock absorbers.

No other has such width of tread and length of wheelbase within dimensions so trim and tidy that Buicks turn, park and garage more easily than smaller cars.

No other duplicates the assurance of steering, brakes and rear axle so precisely geared and gaited for the nimble handling that's a safety "must" in modern cars.

And certainly no other name plate promises the soaring sweep of power that wells from the big 322-cubic-inch V8 beneath every new Buick bonnet.

Nor does any other automatic drive put power to its car's rear wheels with the swift, unruffled pace of Variable Pitch Dynaflo* — and that goes double every time you "switch pitch" for whip-quick, safer passing.

But why stop to count reasons — when results are what you're after? Wouldn't you rather really feel Buick's new "sense of direction" on straightaway, curves and corners?

Wouldn't you rather relax in supreme comfort while tooling this powerful performer over roads you always hated to travel?

Well, sir, we cordially invite you to drop in on us and do just that.

Make it this week, won't you? Sample the ride that has charms to win any old road — and get first-hand figures on prices that make Buick owning a more positive pleasure.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century — optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

The story was read by Mrs. Elmer Maune.

It takes a GIANT to solve an enigma
A giant wind tunnel reveals the lines of least wind resistance. The giant that is the newspaper reveals the lines of least sales resistance.
Whether your market is this nation, this region, or simply this city—your problem is how to overcome sales resistance and win your share of your market against today's unparalleled competition.
The newspaper unravels the mysteries of any market, because the newspaper penetrates its market so deeply. In one market or 1,000 it can track down your every last customer with methodical efficiency.
Almost every customer for every product habitually reads and shops the newspaper every day. That's why over 56,000,000 newspapers are bought daily. That's why advertisers, national and retail, invested over $3,000,000,000 in newspapers in 1955.
It takes a giant to solve the enigma of today's selling. That giant, the newspaper, lives in every town. USE it and win your share of the market.

Growth To Be Considered In Shade Tree

Before you choose a shade tree for your property as part of your Clean-Up Plant-Up program, you should consult the tree growth table and coordinate it with your house height, personal desires and program of living.

Your type of house, ranch or two story, will determine the right ultimate height of the prospective tree. An oak would rather dwarf a small rambler, for example. If your job appears stationary and permanent, so that your present house may be home for several decades, you can profitably purchase a tree which reaches maturity slowly. Last, but obviously not least, your personal likes in trees should influence your decision.

Let's look at the growth table. Fastest growing trees are sugar maple, American and green ash, cucumber tree, American, Chinese and Moline elms, sweet gum, silver maple, sycamore, thornless honey locust and little leaf linden. They will grow 20 to 30 feet in ten years.

Medium growth trees — those growing to approximately 15 feet in 10 years include black walnut, Norway maple, English oak, red and pin oak, Amur cherry, Amur cork tree, beech, birch, ginkgo, buckeye, tulip tree, hackberry, hawthorn and horsechestnut.

Slow growing trees, which reach less than 15 feet in ten years are bur oak, hornbeam, shagbark hickory, Kentucky coffee tree and white oak.

Various coniferous evergreens also have different growing rates. Douglas fir, European larch, red pine, Scotch pine, white pine, Black Hills spruce, Norway and white spruce are rapid growing, reaching about 20 feet in 10 years. White fir, Serbian spruce, hemlock and Austrian pine are slower. Of course, climate and fertilization also affect the growing rate. It's a wise idea to discuss local conditions and their influence on growth with your nurseryman. Then with the basic facts in mind plus your own preferences you can plant the tree closest to your requirements.

Ike Misunderstood When He Drops Voice During Conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower dropped his voice at one point in his news conference yesterday and the result was that some reporters misunderstood a remark he made on long-range missiles.

Eisenhower, disputing charges that the United States is dragging its feet in the development of missiles as compared to Russia, took the position that the government is doing just about all it can. The way he put it was that "we are somewhere certainly around the limit" (of maximum effort). The President's voice happened to be low at this point; some reporters could not hear him, and some misunderstood him. An Associated Press newsmen understood him to say that "we are somewhere around them" — the Russians. This would have meant that the United States and Russia were about even in the missile race.

An Associated Press story containing this erroneous version was dispatched. Questions were raised by another AP reporter, who heard it differently. A recording of Eisenhower's remarks was played back, and The AP then sent the correct version.

Navy Secretary Says Reds Could Attack Formosa Islands

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Navy Secretary Charles S. Thomas says Red China "no doubt" is in a position to attack the offshore islands between Formosa and the mainland. But he questioned whether the Reds would make the effort and "lose the men."

Thomas, addressing a Junior Chamber of Commerce banquet last night, said as long as the U.S. 7th Fleet continues to patrol Asian waters he didn't think the Reds would attack.

American Women Living in Saudi Arabia Produces 3-Dimensional Map Desert

Mrs. Alva F. Martin models the dress she made from Arabian ghutras (head scarves). Belt is made from the agal, the cord that holds headcloth in place.

Lebanese tablecloth furnished material for this outfit worn by Mrs. William Burleigh.

AL KHOBAR, Arabia—(NEA)—Fashions worn by American women in Saudi Arabia spring from a mixture of native garb and Yankee ingenuity.

Wives of oil company men employed here find the Arab ghutra (traditional head scarf) is just right for use as a light stole on a cool evening. They also cut the ghutra, which is woven in varying patterns of cotton, wool or cashmere, into skirts, blouses and dresses.

From the agal, the black cord that's worn around a man's head to hold the ghutra in place, they've evolved a belt. Some of the agals are woven with gold and silver-colored threads.

The thobe becomes a nightgown. The Arabian thobe is a long, straight gown that's the equivalent of the western shirt and trousers. It's usually made of cool, white cotton and so is ideal for hot nights.

For Arabian nights, there are the elaborate, embroidered slippers. American women buy them for the bedroom and for lounging about the house. They like the Bedouin bracelets of beaten gold; earrings, necklaces and other jewelry in antique silver. These they use in place of the costume jewelry they'd wear in the States.

Arabian American Oil Company employees and their families are sent to Saudi Arabia for a two-year period. At the end of the two years, they get a long leave that enables them to come back to the States to buy clothes.

But Mrs. William Tewell, wife of an Aramco attorney living in Dhahran, says:

"I no longer buy all of my clothes in the States. It's fun to use imagination in putting to use the things you can get right here.

"I tear a fashion picture from a newspaper sent from home and take it to one of the Indian tailors at al-Khobar. For about $15, you'll get something that would cost you $50 in the States."

American women shopping here in al-Khobar also buy garments from other parts of the Middle East, Africa and even the Far East. There are hand-loomed cottons from India, brocades from China, silk from Thai.

One American girl makes slacks and skirts from a striped cotton fabric from Calcutta that's normally used for the heavy-duty wrapping of bundles.

Fashion is where you find it.

Pretzels secured their design in the Middle Ages. Their intertwined "arms" were supposed to represent arms folded in supplication.

The pudu, world's smallest deer, is only 13 inches high at the shoulders, has two prongs on its head in place of antlers, and lives in the Andes, chiefly in Chile and Ecuador.

5-Year-Old Boy Dies Of Starvation; Father Throws Body in River

EASTON, Pa. (AP)—Five-year-old William Meuller had died of starvation before his father threw the body into the Delaware River, Coroner George T. Kametz said last night.

The body was recovered yesterday.

Police held the father, Alfred Meuller, 60, and his 24-year-old wife pending a further hearing on charges of failure to provide the boy with necessities of life.

State police said Meuller signed a statement that the boy died last Saturday night after long confinement in his locked room for punishment. They quoted Meuller as saying that, fearing trouble with authorities, he placed the boy's body in a weighted burlap sack and threw it into the river.

Kametz, making a partial report on his autopsy, said the body bore no marks of violence, that it weighed 16 1/2 pounds when taken from the water and that death was due to malnutrition and neglect.

Dist. Atty. Clinton B. Palmer said it would be several days before he decided whether to place additional charges against the Meullers, parents of four other children.

9-Year-Old Altar Boy Is Seriously Burned

BALTIMORE (AP) — The filmy dress of 9-year-old altar boy Albert Longmire caught fire as he was lighting candles yesterday during novena services at St. Edward's Catholic Church.

His cassock and surplice blazed up.

The Rev. John Kerr, conducting services, leaped from the pulpit, hurled the altar rail, grabbed a woman's coat, wrapped it around the boy and beat out the flames. A woman helped put out the flames with holy water.

At Lutheran Hospital, the youth was reported in serious condition with third-degree burns over the upper half of his body.

St. Louis County Man Charged With Theft From State Hospital

FULTON, Mo., (AP) — A St. Louis County man — August Massarand — who is one of several persons charged in connection with the alleged theft of goods from Missouri State Hospital No. 1, was bound over to circuit court yesterday.

Former owner of a store at Ham's Prairie, Massarand pleaded innocent to a charge of receiving stolen property.

Top Union Official Escapes Injury When Shot at in His Home

MIAMI Fla. (AP)—A top hotel union official and organizer narrowly escaped injury and possibly death last night when two bullets shattered a window in his living room.

Bert H. Ross, 46, international vice president of the Hotel Employees Union, said he believed his union activities were behind the shooting. Ten minutes after the shooting an anonymous caller warned him to get out of town.

Ross and his wife Cathrine, 44, were sitting in the living room when the shots were fired shortly before 10 p.m.

Ross told police the first bullet shattered a window a foot above his head and that a few seconds after he and his wife fell to the floor another bullet crashed thru

4-H Home Economics Projects Leaders Training Meetings

Tuesday, April 24, completed the leader training meetings held for 4-H leaders in Home Economics. The attendance at these meetings averaged a little less than 50 percent. We know it is impossible for everyone to be able to attend the meetings; however, we believe the percentage might have been somewhat higher.

There will be no more planned training meetings this spring for 4-H leaders in Home Economics projects; however, we want all leaders to feel free to call upon us for help with any problem you may have concerning your 4-H project. No question is too simple to ask if you do not have the answer.

A list of Achievement Day and State Fair exhibit entries will be sent to each project leader in the very near future.

Information Please on Vitamin C
If you eat a serving of prunes, canned pears or applesauce, you will still need to have tomatoes, citrus fruit or a fresh raw vegetable for your Vitamin C.

Vitamins are lost from fruits and vegetables by over-cooking and stirring while hot.

Vegetables and fruits should be cooked rapidly using as small an amount of water as possible.

One medium orange or two tomatoes will supply the Vitamin C requirements for one day.

If any water is left after cooking vegetables, do not throw it away.

Baking soda used in cooking green vegetables or dried beans destroys the water-soluble vitamins.

Vitamins are not fattening.

Vitamin deficiencies in our bodies usually occur separately and are not easily observed.

The use of vitamin pills should be prescribed by a physician.

Bleeding gums and a tendency to bruise are the warning signs of a Vitamin C deficiency.

Protective foods are those which contain a large amount of vitamins and minerals.

By wise planning and careful selection and preparation of foods, we can secure our vitamins in their natural forms.

Foods rich in vitamins usually contain good mineral companions as well.

Vitamin losses occur in foods because of water, heat, light and air.

Vitamin C can not be stored in our bodies.

To Observe National Home Demonstration Week—April 29-May 5

The 11th annual National Home Demonstration Week will be observed April 29 to May 5 by millions of homemakers who take part in home demonstration work throughout the Nation. Nation-wide the theme will be: Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World. But in Missouri the 47,000 women who make up the membership of home economics extension clubs will continue to stress the importance of good family fare by again using the addition theme: Food To Keep Us Strong And Able. This will be the fourth consecutive year that the club women have emphasized the importance of balanced meals as a part of home demonstration week activities. Each year they have studied one of the five food groups which scientists have found every normal person needs for good health. In studying these food groups, the club women have used a one-page meal planning guide—A MISSOURI PLAN FOR GOOD EATING. This year they'll use many devices to demonstrate the use of citrus fruits and other vitamin C rich foods in family meals.

In Pettis County in addition to the emphasis placed on the use of Vitamin C for good health the Extension Clubs will attend a county-wide program and Style Revue by their Club Clothing project leaders, invite guests to their club meetings and extend an invitation to them to become Extension Club members. A television show will be given by Extension Club members May 16 in observance of the Extension Club work in Pettis County.

Leafy Green and Yellow Vegetables Make Good Salad

One of the easiest ways to fit leafy green and yellow vegetables into your family's meals is to toss a chef's salad for them. Combine bite-sized pieces of lettuce, endive, onions, radishes, carrots and celery. Then add a tangy dressing. Surveys show that many of us fail to eat enough green and yellow vegetables in our meals to provide the needed amounts of Vitamin A. We need these foods to promote normal growth and proper development of teeth during the formative period. Also, vitamin A foods protect eyesight and increase resistance to infections by keeping linings of the body moist and healthy. The leafy, green and yellow vegetables among the foods found in Group four on the meal-planning guide — "A Missouri Plan For Good Eating." All five food groups needed in dairy amounts are pictured and named on the guide. You can obtain a copy of this meal planning guide from the county extension office, 118½ West Third, Sedalia, Missouri.

Democrat Governor Wears Ike Button

DENVER (AP) — There was an "Ike-1956" campaign button in the lapel of Democratic Gov. Edwin C. Johnson yesterday.

It was pinned there by singer James Melton during a courtesy visit at the Capitol. Later Johnson, a former U.S. senator, explained to reporters:

"I didn't know what it was. I just told him to be sure not to stick me. When he said it was an 'Ike' button I decided to be polite and leave it on while Melton was here."

The governor has endorsed Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas for the presidency.

The US Constitution was one of three frigates launched in 1797.

Katyn Forest Investigation Is Rumored

NEW YORK (AP) — A report has seeped across the Iron Curtain that the Polish Communist government is investigating the Katyn Forest massacre.

Analysts here doubt the suggestion the Polish Reds might dare raise this hot issue.

Still, the report deserves attention because the Polish Communists are going much further these days in their denunciation of Stalin and his works than other Soviet satellites.

Katyn Forest, in western Russia near Smolensk, was the scene of the mass murder in 1940 of more than 4,000 Polish army officers who had been missing since the Polish defeat in 1939.

The Germans, who first reported the massacre during World War II, said the Russians did it. The Soviet government blamed the Nazis. An American congressional committee held hearings for nine months in 1951-52 and laid the massacre at the door of the Russians.

The new report from Poland says the Warsaw government has established a group to investigate and can be expected to make a report in June, which might be made public.

If the report is true, it could mean the Poles intend to whitewash the Russians. Such a step would stem from the fact that the denunciation of Stalin and revelation of some of his crimes has awakened bitter memories in Poland.

Fire Fighters Carry Out Stove With Fire

MIDDLEBURY, Vt. (AP) — There was a double fire at the home of Fire Chief Harry Whitney. He extinguished the original blaze near the chimney, only to have it rekindle later and break through the attic and roof. Neighbors carried out many articles, including a parlor stove with the fire still burning in it. They wore gloves on the job.

land. Many Poles nowadays are asking questions—some of them no doubt about Katyn.

It is also conceivable—barely—that the Kremlin, having admitted so many of Stalin's purges and massacres, has decided to blame him for Katyn Forest also. Such an action would arouse strong passions in Poland and could be dangerous to the Communists.

If the Polish Reds are delving into the Katyn story, it seems certain it is being done with Moscow's approval.

Integration Plea Is Heard By Methodists

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Methodist policy makers, haunted by old troubles that once split their now-united church, today had two words on their minds — "principles" and "practicality."

These were the dual aspects of a plea that the church "move in sure but calculated steps" to get rid of racial segregation.

An underlying question, couched in a weighty opinion by the church's Council of Bishops, was how soon — and by what means — the job could be done without shattering repercussions.

The matter was up to the 766 delegates at a general law-making conference, which charts the future of America's biggest Protestant church for four years ahead.

The bishops, in their key, 23,000-word message last night, declared that "these evils" of racial discrimination and segregation must be driven out of the church. But they said the way to do it is by following an old Methodist tradition to "establish principles by a practical consideration of what could be done."

They advocated — as a first, major step — the setting up of a study commission on the problem, to bring back recommendations to the next conference in 1960.

If done, this would mean dropping, for the moment, proposals for merging the church's all-Negro subdivision with regular regional jurisdictions.

The separate administrative unit was a feature of the church's reunion — North and South — in 1939.

More advance preparations are needed on the matter, the bishops suggested, to find means to "preserve the good" — united church strength, "while eliminating the bad" — segregation.

Two Lefties Ponder Value Of One Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pair of little lefthanded pitching veterans trying to regain their winning form for the Kansas City Athletics and St. Louis Cardinals pondered today how much difference one game makes.

Bobby Shantz, 30-year-old former star of the A's staff, won his first game this season but lasted only four innings and allowed four runs as the Cleveland Indians beat Kansas City, 5-2.

Harvey (The Kitten) Haddix, battered in his first start by Cincinnati although not the losing pitcher, was near-perfect with a two-hit 6-0 shutout over the Chicago Cubs.

Shantz suffered a pulled back muscle in the fourth inning. A sore arm had hampered the 5-foot 6-inch little lefty ever since his great 24-7 season of 1952 but seemed to have left him this season.

Haddix, also 30, trailed off to a 12-16 record last season after winning 18 games in 1954 and 20 in 1953.

His impressive job was the first complete game this season by a member of the erratic Cardinal pitching staff and boosted the Redbirds past Chicago into third place, only a half game from the top.

Rip Repulski and Wally Moon had two hits each and Repulski and Stan Musial two RBIs each. St. Louis was held under 10 hits for the first time in eight games this season but made them count by taking advantage of early wildness by Sam Jones, Cub starter.

Hard-firing lefthander Herb Score struck out eight and gave up only five hits in getting his first victory of the season for Cleveland. Hec Lopez got three hits for the A's and Vic Wertz four for the Indians.

Rookie Rocky Colavito gave Score a cushion with a two-run homer in the first inning. Al Rosen's homer led off the fourth and Wertz did the same in the ninth off Tom Gorman. Bill Renna's double and Joe Ginsberg's sacrifice fly drove in the Kansas City runs.

Middleweight Is Labeled Title Material

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—No less a boxing sage than Jack Kearns today labeled New Orleans middleweight Charley Joseph champion-ship timber and said the young stylist could "go all the way."

Joseph, a 23-year-old high school student, used a talented left hand and a heady defense last night to score a 10-round split decision over mauling Milo Savage of Salt Lake City, second-ranked contender for the middleweight crown.

Kearns, who piloted Jack Dempsey to the heavyweight title and Joey Maxim to the light heavy throne, was an interested spectator.

"Why, this boy has everything a boxer could want," said Kearns. "He punches well and the way he moves he could dance circles around any middleweight today, and that includes all of them."

Joseph convinced more than 5,900 fans and a national television audience he easily deserves the No. 9 middleweight ranking he holds. He puzzled Savage with his blinding speed during the early rounds and his defense neutralized Savage's furious attack in the late stanzas.

Baseball Roundup—

Pittsburgh Pirates Quietly Develop Good 1-2 Punch

By JOE REICHLER
The Associated Press

The lightly regarded Pittsburgh Pirates, with little or no fanfare, are quietly developing a one-two punch that compares favorably with any two back-to-back hitters in the major leagues.

It is much too early to refer to them as a "devastating duo," but during the Pirate's first seven games, Dale Long and Frank Thomas have done all that could be expected of third- and fourth-place hitters—and more.

Only the New York Yankees' Mickey Mantle-Yogi Berra combination has shown more power this season. The only other pair of sluggers who clearly outrank the Long-Thomas offensive are Brooklyn's Duke Snider and Roy Campanella. Snider, however, has not yet hit his true stride.

Pittsburgh, an overwhelming preseason choice to finish in the National League basement, has been the early season surprise, winning three of its seven games. Long and Thomas have been the dominating factors in all three triumphs.

Thomas rapped two singles last night, one of which drove in the run in the seventh inning that gave the Pirates a 6-5 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies. He also scored once. Long slammed two doubles and a single, batted in two runs and scored twice. Long is now hitting at a .429 clip. Thomas .346.

The Dodgers whipped the Giants 7-2 last night to take sole possession of first place in the National League for the first time this season. Carl Erskine pitched the Brooks to their fourth consecutive victory with a seven-hitter.

St. Louis walloped the Chicago Cubs 6-0 to climb into third place behind the two-hit pitching of Harvey Haddix. Rain washed out the game between Cincinnati and the Braves.

In the American, the New York Yankees, made it seven victories in eight starts by vanquishing the Baltimore Orioles 4-2. The victory gave the defending champions a 1½-game lead over runner-up Chicago. The White Sox and Detroit had a day off.

Washington, another team playing a better brand of baseball than expected, upset the Boston Red Sox 4-1 at Fenway Park for its fourth victory in nine starts. Pedro Ramos handcuffed the Red Sox with three hits. Ex-Washington right-hander Bob Porterfield was the loser.

Herb Score pitched the Cleveland Indians to a 5-2 victory over Kansas City, yielding five hits and striking out eight for his first triumph. Home runs by rookie Rocky Colavito, Al Rosen and Vic Wertz eased the way. Bobby Shantz was the victim of all but Wertz's blast.

The Dodgers bombarded starter Jim Hearn and three Giant relievers for 13 hits, fielded spectacularly and ran the bases in dashing style. Gil Hodges walloped a home run, double and single. Pee Wee Reese distinguished himself at shortstop with 11 chances, several of them difficult ones, and Jackie Robinson stole home.

Shantz Leaves Mound With Pulled Muscle

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Little Bobby Shantz, on whom the Kansas City A's have been pinning big hopes for the 1956 campaign, had to quit the mound with a pulled back muscle in the fourth inning of last night's game with Cleveland.

The injury was described as minor and the left hander probably will be back in action within a week.

Shantz yielded three runs in the first inning and another in the fourth before he left the game with a man on and two out. The Indians went on to win 5-2. Shantz had won one game previously this season.

O'Connell Shows Effect of Move To Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Danny O'Connell and Fred Haney are together again—this time with the Milwaukee Braves—and it shows, especially on O'Connell.

The 27-year-old second baseman from Paterson, N. J., seems to have regained the confidence he had with Haney's Pittsburgh Pirates in 1953 when the Braves parted with six players and $75,000 for his services.

True, he's batting only around .250, but neither Haney, now a Brave coach, nor Manager Charlie Grimm and least of all O'Connell is worried. They all figure he'll pick up an extra 40 or 50 points.

The big factor is his renewed faith in himself, both in the field and as the Braves' new lead-off batter.

He began brooding last year and finished the season with an anemic .225 batting average. That's 69 points below the .294 he had under Haney in 1953. It also was well below the .279 he hit in 1954, his first at County Stadium.

O'Connell credits Haney with his new outlook.

Ramos Is Close To Regular Starting Job

BOSTON (AP)—Washington right-hander Pedro Ramos may have parlayed a changeup curve and added control for his fast ball into a regular starting assignment.

The 20-year-old converted catcher—slated for relief pitching for the Senators—turned his chance as a starter against the Boston Red Sox yesterday into a brilliant three-hit job.

"Manager (Chuck) Dressen has changed my pitching style," explained Ramos, who held the Sox to one run (a Jackie Jensen homer) while striking out eight and walking six.

"He's made me over so I throw the changeup," he said. "I guess I'm a lot better than I was a year ago, and my fast ball is going good."

Ramos, a Cuban who will be 21 Saturday, surrendered a single to Dick Gervent in the first inning—then gave up Jensen's homer and a double by Mickey Vernon in the sixth. The last two hits came with one out but Ramos hurled his way out of trouble masterfully.

Don Buddin went for his tantalizing, big bending curve to pop out and Billy Consolo went down on strikes to end the inning.

Earlier this year, Ramos appeared as a reliever against Baltimore—giving no runs and three hits in two innings.

"Only Bob Turley (New York) and Herb Score (Cleveland) are as fast as Ramos—and I like this boy's control," Dressen said. "I wouldn't trade Ramos for five Porterfields."

Bob Porterfield, traded by the Senators to Boston last winter, was the loser.

Drake Relay Officials Predict New Records

DES MOINES (AP)—A Drake relays field, dotted with Uncle Sam's Olympic hopefuls, begins a two-day charge for new records tomorrow.

Representatives from 30 universities and 45 colleges will be on hand.

Drake statisticians, remarkably accurate in the past with their figures, are out with a forecast of 10 probable new records. They list nine events with "possible" record potentials.

Last year they were correct on six of the eight "probable" predictions and picked up two records from the "possible" category for a total of eight.

The shot-put will be a double barreled attraction with Bill Nieder of Kansas, the National Collegiate champion and Parry O'Brien, formerly of Southern California and the world record holder at 60 feet, 10 inches, on display.

Will Have Practice

There will be a practice session by the East Sedalia Baptist church softball team this evening at five o'clock at Center Park.

Ex-Track Stars Demand Overhaul—AAU President Supports Its Secretary-Treasurer's Honor

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Amateur Athletic Union, a frequent controversial body almost since its founding, remained in the news today on both sides of the country as its president upheld the integrity of its veteran secretary-treasurer and several former track stars called for a general over-hauling of the organization.

President Carl H. Hansen of Oakland, Calif., said in a prepared statement that "where we have 'bad apples'... we will rid ourselves of them" but Mr. (Daniel J. Ferris, AAU secretary, is from another orchard entirely."

Hansen stated was against Ferris by John Fulton, former Stanford track star. Fulton charged Ferris approved an excessive expense account for him for a trip to Canada. Ferris lost no time denying it.

"I do rely entirely on the outstanding character and spotless record of Mr. Ferris earned over a period of more than 49 years devoted to service in amateur sports," said Hansen. He told me by phone that the charges are utterly irresponsible and without foundation."

A few hours later on a television program (Dumont) Elmore Harris, a 600-yard star from 1945-47, and Roscoe Browne, former 1,000-yard national indoor champion, called for liberalizing of the AAU rules regarding the definition of an amateur and punishment of promoters who violate the rules by paying athlete excess expense monies.

Harris, and Browne, along with Joe Nowicki, former half-mile collegiate titleholder from Fordham, Jim Herbert, a one-time great running star for New York University, and Fulton related in a Life Magazine story by Jack Newcombe how they flouted the amateur rules by accepting payoffs in expense money or cash.

"I never ran unless I got my price," Harris was quoted. "May be only a couple of us out five or six starters were paid. But the promoters knew that without us they didn't have a race."

Nowicki was quoted as saying, "it was the practice to talk with other runners and find out what they were getting. If the man you were beating got more than you did, you asked for more the next time." When the Wes Santee case broke, I thought it was unfair to start enforcing rules that have been waived for years. I know AAU officials who, when they were competing, took just as much as Santee did."

Santee was suspended for life by the AAU for accepting excessive expense monies.

"Some meets were run strictly for profit—that's why I demanded liberal expenses," said Herbert. "Sure I made more money than AAU rules permit but I didn't make a living out of it. When I retired, I didn't have five dollars in the banks."

Manager Sid Flaherty of San Francisco, whose stable of some 25 boxers includes middleweight Carl (Bobo) Olson, yesterday brushed aside the protests of his attorney and admitted:

1. He acted as co-promoter of many fights throughout Northern California, although state rules forbid managers taking part in matchmaking.

Peruvian Girl Has Unlimited Voice Talent

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (U)—There seems to be no limit to the range of Yma Sumac's talents. She'll prove that next year when she makes her operatic debut in this country. The Peruvian doll is a favorite on the night club circuit. Her record albums are good sellers, and she is a popular concert artist. She appeared in a Broadway show, "Flahooley," and is a regular guest on TV and radio. She is now appearing in her second movie, "The Loves of Omar Karam." Next, the opera. The San Francisco Opera Company has signed her to star in its production of "Lakme" next fall. This is a rare instance of a singer graduating from night clubs to opera. "It is not my first opera," the dark beauty explained. "Once before, I sang 'La Traviata' in Rio de Janeiro. But this will be the first time I have sung opera in this country, outside of some arias which I have sung in concerts. "And oh, it is so much work to prepare for it! I am naturally lazy, but my husband (Moises Vivanco) is a slave driver. He makes me practice one or two hours a day while I am on this picture. It will be four hours a day when I finish the picture." She said that she is learning under a coach for the first time in her career. Before, she always taught herself to sing, she remarked. Oddly enough, she is working harder to prepare for "Lakme" than she ever has for other mediums. And she is being paid less.

"The top salary for an opera star in this country is $1,500 a performance," she explained. "In Las Vegas, I am paid $10,000 a week."

Then why does she do it? "There is prestige in doing opera. And also a great deal of satisfaction." Yma's vocal range is well known. She can span five octaves with ease and clarity, whereas you and I are lucky to handle two. This offers pregnant possibilities for her opera career. Supposing the tenor gets sick one night. She could also sing his part—and the contralto and baritone too, for that matter. She would like to expand her operatic career, through interspersing it with her other engagements so she could afford the luxury of being in opera.

Dress Your Home in Easy-Care Fabric to Reduce Housework

It's a snap to curtain windows on let's-do-nothing summer days. Curtain-shade unsnaps from roller for laundering; if rehanging while damp, the two-in-one combination is said to need no ironing.

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

New, easy-to-care-for fabrics so highly prized in summer fashions are no less appreciated in the well-dressed home.

Crisp, summery accessories such as curtains, bedspreads and the like won't need to journey to the washbasin as often as your clothes. But when they do wilt, the busy homemaker will enjoy the ease with which they can be washed, dried and put back to use with little or no ironing.

I'm looking ahead to the hot weather days when the last thing in the world I'll want to do is fuss with the housekeeping. On my list of accessories to investigate is a new curtain-shade on a roller that's pretty enough to act as curtain, too. Made of Indian Head cotton and topped by a ruffled valance, there's a choice of two prints and five solid colors. The shade snaps off the roller for laundering in soap or detergent and is said to require no ironing if rehanging while damp.

Another entry in the easy-care department is made by gaily printed cotton cafe curtains made of permanent finish cotton. This fabric is not supposed to need starching or ironing and all the laundering involves is a swishing in suds, rinsing and drip-drying. These are ready-mades and are reasonably priced.

For the bedroom (and elegant, indeed) are new, sculptured nylon taffeta ensembles which appear drip-dries wrong side out on parallel everything from bedspreads to draperies, vanity skirts and pillow shams. Some styles are tailored, others are frilled and ruffled.

Patterns include coins, shamrocks and tiny rosebuds printed, as well as sculptured, on the fabric. The colors range from soft pastels to deep and dramatic tones. These, so I'm told, can be washed by hand or machine in warm suds and drip-dried in minutes. And absolutely no ironing is needed, so they say.

What may be just the thing to perk up an old bed is a crisply pleated dust ruffle. Permanent pleats, that is, in cotton finished to keep the iron on the shelf when the ruffle is washed. To make sure the pleats snap back razor-sharp and wrinkle-free, the ruffle should be hand washed and hung up to dry. A slit at each corner makes this dust ruffle adaptable to beds with or without footboards.

Indian Head cotton, a familiar fabric to most of us, now comes in a super weight suitable for slipcovers and draperies. It has a permanent, linen-like crash finish. With a choice of 35 solid colors, it should be easy to create almost any color scheme a home sewer could want. The fabric is 48 inches wide, the price is low and fabric can be washed by hand or machine with no sagging, shrinking or stretching.

Another simple-to-care-for fabric to which I'm partial is corduroy. It has now been specially treated for home fashions to make it water repellent, spot resistant and crush resistant so that it won't mat down. The color selection is broad and lovely and there are several printed patterns, too. When a corduroy coverlet or throw does finally need a bath, suds are squeezed through the fabric and, after rinsing, corduroy lies flat.

Producer Says Milk Prices Must Go Up

MINNEAPOLIS (U)—Upward revision of fluid milk prices paid farmers is necessary to forestall "chaotic market conditions," an Iowa producer told a special department of agriculture hearing yesterday.

Harold McGinnis, president of the Eastern Iowa Co-operative Dairy Producers, said dairymen in his area had been placed at a disadvantage by recent department price orders.

McGinnis pointed out that the new April 16-June 30 price level in the Quad Cities area is $4.34 per hundredweight for fluid milk, $4.24 in the Dubuque district and $3.87 for the Cedar Rapids-Iowa City territory.

As a result, McGinnis said, producers are shifting into the higher price areas with "resultant instability and disorder that could retard the best development of the dairy industry in eastern Iowa."

Spokesmen for nine other mid-western milksheds supported an average 50 cents per 100 pounds boost in basic allowances, an increase they estimated would cost consumers about one cent per quart.

Citing a "strike" by producers in the Detroit area earlier this month, Glenn Lake, president of the Michigan Milk Producers Assn., said the raise was needed to insure future orderly marketing.

Willard J. Grant, of the Nebraska-Iowa Non-stock Milk Assn., said there had been some talk about farmers withholding milk from the Sioux City, Iowa area in dissatisfaction over low prices.

Spokesmen for the Twin City (Minneapolis-St. Paul) Milk Producers Assn. said the upward adjustment was needed "to safeguard milk supplies and forestall acts of violence such as cropped up at Detroit."

Vernon Sjoquist of the Spink County Dairy at Redfield, S.D., the increase, said he had heard no collective demand for it from farmers in that area. He said he expected buyers to resist any raise.

Three Sioux Falls, S.D., dairymen agreed with Sjoquist. Alvin Schock said farmers got 10.1 percent more income from milk last year than in 1954.

Two others, D. W. Sutherland and Ralph Rogers, said not only was there no emergency but that milk supplies were entirely adequate at present price levels.

Graduates From NCO Academy at Ft. Wood

Sfc. Robert J. Wilkie, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilton M. Wilkie, Smithton, recently was graduated from the non-commissioned officer academy at Ft. Riley, Kan.

Wilkie completed the academy's four week advanced course in leadership, tactics and methods of instruction.

A radio section chief in Headquarters Battery of the 1st Infantry Division's 33rd Field Artillery battalion, he entered the Army in 1948 and has served in Europe and Korea. His wife, Jeanette, lives in Manhattan, Kan.

Trial Nears Introduction Of Confession

DENVER (U)—Moving swiftly through state testimony, the murder trial of John Gilbert Graham is near the crisis—introduction of his alleged confession to blowing up an airliner carrying his mother and 43 others.

Prosecutor Bert M. Keating said today he expects his case to reach the decisive point "no later than tomorrow" when he will call FBI agents. They will testify about the 24-year-old defendant's statement to them.

"Without the confession, I can't send Graham to the gas chamber," Keating told newsmen.

Graham is charged with murder in the death of his well-to-do mother Mrs. Daisie E. King, 55, from the Sioux City, Iowa area in dissatisfaction over low prices. A 25-stick dynamite time bomb in her suitcase before it was put aboard a United Air Lines plane last Nov. 1. It exploded near Longmont, Colo., 11 minutes after leaving Denver.

Graham took out a $37,500 flight insurance policy on her life, payable to him, before she boarded the plane.

Court-appointed lawyers for Graham failed in an attempt yesterday to get a federal court order that would have prevented FBI agents from testifying in the state murder trial. The agents took the statement from Graham.

Defense Attorney Charles S. Vigil argued unsuccessfully that the statement was not made voluntarily and that FBI agents searched Graham's home and property without proper warrants, denied Graham's motion. He said,

Have Open House

Open house was held at the new housing project in Sweet Springs Sunday, April 22. Many viewed the one completed home of the four under construction.

Men Outnumbered

LOS ANGELES (U)—Los Angeles is a woman's city, at least percentage-wise. The federal census shows 76,259 more women than men; 1,160,000 to 1,083,821.

"There is not a thing to indicate any basis for rejection of the confession, either on constitutional grounds or on the ground of it being involuntary."

Knous ruled after hearing Roy K. Moore, assistant special agent in charge of the Denver FBI office, testifying to circumstances surrounding Graham's statement taken by the FBI last Nov. 13.

Moore said after Graham was called to the FBI office for questioning "I told him he could call an attorney; told him he could leave the examination room if he wanted; told him a telephone was available. I told him he didn't have to tell us anything but if he did everything could be used against him."

Vigil said after the federal rebuttal the defense would try again in the state court to block the alleged confession.

TV Prorams Influence Marketing

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—Small fists clenched tightly, eyes closed, he was yelling his head off. His mother stared at him with a mixture of irritation and amazement. He didn't want that, he cried. He wanted that, and he pointed to a different kind of cereal on the shelves of the supermarket. Anyone who spends much time prowling around supermarkets knows all about it. A child's eyes always have been closely related to his stomach. But only since the advent of commercial television has a child insisted on having a role in the weekly marketing. The cereal endorsed by his favorite cowboy and the candy advocated by his TV screen pal have become very important to him—and her. In the nation's markets these days you see the kids using various techniques in getting what they want. Some use the direct approach of demand. Others raid the shelves boldly, tossing the products they've seen advertised on television into their mothers' shopping baskets. A few try to sneak them in.

It sometimes seems that the only thing kids retain from watching television is the commercials. They chant them in the streets—and they remember the product when it's time to go to market. "It's really disgusting," a mother said the other day. "The influence of TV advertising on children is truly a shame."

Why? The woman couldn't say exactly why. Basically it seemed that she was merely suffering battle fatigue from semiweekly engagements with her young at the cereal, cookie and candy shelves of the supermarket. (These seem to be the fundamental spots where eyes meet stomachs, though I have seen one precocious youngster arguing with his mother over a brand of sauce.)

Personally, I don't think that commercials — purely as commercials — can possibly be "bad" for young children. It's my observation that you can only sell a child on something he already likes. He can look at beer commercials all day without raising a thirst for the stuff. If he decided to try a bottle, nobody would sell it to him anyway.

A child knows when he's being spoken to. When the character on the home screen is talking to his

Drought and Rain Are Blamed for Fire

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—A combination of drought and rain was blamed for setting fire to several utility poles and disrupting electric power service to thousands of Peoria homes last night.

James Brown of the Central Illinois Light Co. said this is what happened:

During an extended drought, dust collected on the poles and insulators. When it finally rained, the dust absorbed the moisture. This formed a contact which permitted the electricity to reach the ground. The flow of electricity set fire to the poles and circuits were broken.

About 25,000 residents were without power for several hours.

112-Year-Old Woman Predicts Her Death

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—"I've celebrated my last birthday," said Mrs. Lucinda Mallory, 112 years old yesterday.

"I'm ready to pass on and make room for someone else," said Mrs. Mallory, who prides herself on "a strong sense of prediction."

parents, he rapidly loses interest. But I fail to see what's wrong in an advertiser talking to children about cereal and candy and such things which interest them mightily.

Perhaps, for all any adult knows a child's awareness of commercials is a symptom of quick perception and a good memory. At least that's something to think about the next time the kids want to take over the weekly marketing.

Hal Boyle's Column—

Smokers and Gum Chewers Have Similar Motivation

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plato: How do you get rid of your inner tensions?

Do you bite your nails? Light up a cigar or cigarette? Chew gum?

Usually a person who has one of these habits is intolerant of one who has another of these nervous habits. The gum chewer looks down on the nail biter. There is a fixed gulf of misunderstanding between the cigarette smoker and the man who enjoys a good corona.

Now—thanks to an enlightened dentist—all us craven addicts have reason to be more tolerant of each other.

Dr. Maury Massier of the University of Illinois College of Dentistry says smokers, gum chewers and nail biters share one thing in common—they are all former thumb suckers.

A tolerant man himself, Dr. Massier sees no basic harm in these grownup replacements for the consoling thumb of childhood. They are merely, he says, needed methods of "relieving the inner tensions that build up."

I cannot attest the general accuracy of Dr. Massier's thesis. But it is certainly true in my case. I was a stout thumb man myself until the age of 5, when I swore off forever.

There followed 29 tense, fretful and restless years. Then at 34 I discovered the relaxing solace of a good cigar. It was like being reborn again. Since then my life has been one long smoke-filled song.

But my enjoyment has been interrupted by many a cigarette smoking hostess who complained that the rich, dreamy aroma of my stogies reminded them of smoldering hemp.

"Why don't you light up a cigarette instead?" they urged.

What could a polite man do but reluctantly extinguish his fine two-bit cigar—and quietly slip the stub back in his pocket when no one was looking? It would be bad manners to tell them the truth: That cigarette smoke gives me a vile headache—that I feel anyone who actually enjoys smoking cigarettes ought to have his lungs examined.

Believe me, being a cigar-lover is no pipe dream. You are sometimes lonely and embattled. Even the airlines are against you—except on all-male flights. A cigar man has to sit and brood smokeless while the cigarette fans bludge the plane.

Have you ever noticed a fellow in an airplane absent-mindedly chewing on his thumb? He is probably a frustrated cigar man reverting to the solace of childhood.

Take it from me—again thanks to Dr. Massier—the next party hostess who tries to shame me out of my cigar by holding out a cigarette is going to get a brusque answer.

"Listen, lady, I will tell her coldly. 'You may not be up on the scientific facts behind this situation, but I am.

'The truth is that we are both reformed thumb suckers who, for social reasons, have turned to substitute adult satisfactions. You probably had a small thumb, so you turned to cigarettes. I had the largest thumb in the neighborhood, so I naturally turned to cigars.

"If I had wanted to grow up to be a cigarette smoker, I would have started off as a child by sucking my little finger. Now please let me enjoy my cigar in peace or, I warn you, right here and now, I may revert to real infancy and cram my whole hand in my mouth and make gurgling noises."

Faced with a threat like that, any hostess would back down and let a cigar man blow the smoke rings of his own choice.

That is the wonderful thing about science. The more you learn about it the more practical ways you find to use it to improve your daily living.

Seven Children Burn to Death In Home Fire

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Seven children were burned to death early today in their frame house eight miles northwest of Toledo.

The parents, John and Laurel Cooper, were not at home when the fire started shortly after midnight.

The children were identified by Sylvania Fire Chief Richard Campbell as Brenda Joyce, 9; Leonardo, 9; Jacqueline, 6; John, 4; Sheryl Jean, 3; Georgia Marie, 2; and Carter Stephen, 2 months.

Cooper, 31, is employed as a foundry worker in Toledo and his wife Laurel, 29, works as a waitress. They are Negroes.

Their home was in Michigan, a few miles from the Ohio village of Sylvania.

Campbell said the origin of the fire had not been discovered. The father had left the children at home asleep while he drove his wife to work and was returning when the fire broke out, Campbell said.

A neighbor who called Sylvania firemen said flames raced through the home so fast that any rescue attempts would have been futile. The bodies of four children were found in their beds. The others, apparently trying to escape, were sprawled in a hallway and at a door.

Campbell said the house had nearly burned to the ground when the firemen arrived.

Have GA Coronation In Knob Noster Church

A coronation service for the Girls' Auxiliary of the Knob Noster Baptist Church was held at the church Sunday night.

Mrs. Curtis Hutcherson, Warrensburg, president of Johnson County Baptist Association Women's Missionary Union, was in charge of the service. Mrs. George Croll, president of the Baptist WMU, presented the emblems to the girls.

Those recognized were as follows: maidens, Virginia Warren, Janice Neil, Bonnie George, Marcia Mondary and Antonette Mondary; ladies-in-waiting, Donna Saults, Carol Conboy, Pat Abel, Lavon Taraba, Mary Beth Gottschalk and Kathryn Hansen; princesses, Kay Baker and Joyce Warren; queen, Diana Breen; and queen with scepter, Melba Higgins.

Because Melba Higgins attained the next to the highest rank, her counselor, Mrs. Robert Wheeler, presented her with roses and her father, the Rev. Harry Higgins, presented her with a queen with scepter pin.

Mrs. Roy Baker was in charge of decorations and Mrs. R. E. Rhinehart was at the piano.

National guard divisions made up two-fifths of the American expeditionary forces in Europe during World War I.

Time, Weather Put a Crimp In Economy

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Time and the weather are messing up some parts of the economy.

Large and economically important sectors are having a cold and wet spring. This delays crop planting, affects commodity markets, shrinks sales of such warm weather items as autos and spring suits — and benefits fuel dealers.

Time—or, rather, man's tinkering with nature—will spread confusion in some industries next Sunday when many industrial and financial centers go on daylight saving time.

Transportation services will have to decide where and how much to alter schedules between places that do and places that don't change over for the summer. News services will also be reporting some things—like the New York Stock Market—an hour earlier for papers in standard time cities, and other things—like sport events in old time regions—an hour later for papers going to press on new time.

Television and radio programs will have to be arranged, as best as possible, for a mixed audience.

In some states where they have a sort of local option on daylight switching over and other parts of the state leaving the clocks alone—things can get really confused.

Daylight saving is supposed to let commuters get home in time to take care of their lawns and gardens. But in many a suburb this doesn't mean much these days. Cold and rain, and occasion-

Mary Young Named To Honor Society

Mary A. Young of Sedalia, Oklahoma A&M College Arts and Sciences Senior, at Stillwater, Okla., will be initiated into the A&M chapter of Phi Kappa Phi honor society next month.

Phi Kappa Phi is composed of a limited number of outstanding seniors and graduate students who meet certain high academic and moral standards.

Horse Thief Society May Take New Role

TROY, N.Y. (AP)—The Brunswick Society for the Apprehension of Horse Thieves last night discussed broadening the scope of its organization. Since no horse thieves have been apprehended since 1910, chicken thieves may be added to the 40-member society's list of culprits.

al snow, have made these outdoor chores a mockery.

For the farmers it's nothing to laugh about. Delayed crop planting can be serious. And if the Weather Bureau's long-range forecast is to be believed more rain and below normal temperatures can be expected at least until mid-May.

Commodity markets have been reflecting this possible threat to crops perhaps as much as they have been influenced by the ups and downs of arm legislation in the Congress. Crops can still be planted, but late crops run more risks, either of running into hot weather too early in their growth stage or of suffering from early frosts before matured.

WAFB Hospital Celebrates Its First Anniversary This Month

Whiteman AFB's $860,000 hospital celebrates its first anniversary this month. Modern in every detail, the medical center has performed a vital service to the success of this Eighth Air Force installation since it opened April 9, 1955.

Located in the northwest corner of the base away from the noise and activity of the flight line this building has had a very busy schedule during its young life.

During its first year the 4236th USAF hospital has treated 26,996 Whiteman personnel and dependents. Its obstetrical ward has been the scene of 311 births and surgical operations have been performed on 160 persons over the one year period.

The food service kitchen at the hospital whose duty it is to prepare the intricate menus required for patients, serves an average of 2,939 meals each month. Average pharmaceutical needs for patients cost $3,000 per month and special drugs which are used for unusual cases cost $265 monthly.

The building is classified by the Air Force as a 50-100 bed hospital. In other words, the hospital at the present time accommodates 50 beds, but due to the large equipment such as the laboratory, X-ray, surgical, dining facilities etc. the hospital can handle 100 bed patients should the necessity arise, by just adding the actual bed space.

A spirit of teamwork prevails as military and civilian personnel work together in performing the important and essential tasks an efficient hospital must be able to carry out.

The obstetrical ward is located in a separate wing of the hospital building and has two large delivery rooms fitted out with all the latest equipment. The nursery has incubators for the care of premature births, there is a formula preparation room and two-bed wards able to accommodate up to ten or 12 patients.

The ward can handle 30-35 routine normal OB cases per month. Every effort is made by Whiteman's hospital to have the same doctor the patient has been seeing during her pre-natal period make the delivery. This is believed to be a big morale factor for the patients and the doctor is naturally more familiar with the patient's condition under this system.

Shortly after the opening of the hospital, the American National Red Cross agreed to include in its program for Gray Ladies, their use in hospital clinics. Although to a small degree this has been done in other hospitals, this was the first hospital where the program actually became part of their duties.

Gray Ladies Training courses are held approximately twice a year. Since this program was established at Whiteman 78 wives of base personnel have contributed nearly 3340 volunteer hours of work at the hospital's clinic.

Emergency cases are taken to a special room near the X-ray and surgical sections of the hospital. After release, the patient is moved to the emergency and recovery room offering piped oxygen at each bed, plasma and full-time nurses.

When on the road to recovery, the patient can enter a single or double bedroom or a four to eight bed ward. Each room is well lighted and cheerful to avoid the depressing and drab background associated with many hospitals.

Contrasting colors are used throughout the air conditioned building and large window walls are in the main lobby and military waiting room. These features are designed to add to a modern and cheerful condition for patients and personnel assigned to duty at the hospital.

The latest of communications systems between the patient and nurse on duty are among the modern features of the hospital. Replacing the old "buzzer" method to call attention to the nurse, the inter-communication system is so arranged whereby the patient can call the nurse almost in a whisper. This is done by a microphone which picks up the voice of the patient and comes out through a loudspeaker at the nurse's desk.

The system is so sensitive that it can pick up the breathing of a patient and is valuable in checking on the condition of a disturbed case. Col. Charles V. Neil, base commander, stated that he believes Whiteman's hospital to be the very best in Eighth Air Force.

There is a large plateau near the South Pole which is 14,500 feet high.

Fellowship Of Christian Women Here

Miss Myrtle Furman

The Christian Women's Fellowship of the Christian Church of the Sixth District of Missouri will hold a Fellowship Training Institute at the First Christian Church, Seventh and Massachusetts, Friday. Registration will begin at 9:30, and the Institute will close at 3. Leaders for the various study classes will be women from the fellowships of the district, which is composed of the following counties: Johnson, Carroll, Lafayette, Chariton, Howard, Saline, Cooper and Pettis.

The guest speaker will be Miss Myrtle Furman. She will speak at 11 a.m. and 2:15 p.m.

Miss Myrtle Furman is a former principal of Burgess Memorial School for girls at Bilaspur, India. For 37 years, she was an educational missionary to India and now makes her home in Marshalltown, Ia.

Miss Furman served with The United Christian Missionary Society, an international board that administers Christian education and missions carried cooperatively among churches of Disciples of Christ. From offices in Indianapolis, the United Society serves over 7,100 churches in North America and missions in the United States and 11 other countries.

Miss Furman first went to India in 1912. Originally, she had no idea of being a missionary and was teaching school at Gowrie, Ia., when she felt called to teach in India. For five more years, however, she taught to save money to go to college and to care for family needs. Then in preparation, she studied at Drake University, Des Moines, Ia., and took a year's special orientation at the College of Missions, in Indianapolis, just before sailing for India.

During her 37 years as an educational evangelist in India, Miss Furman was located at Rath, Bilaspur, Pendra Road, Kulpahar, and Kotmi. Her work everywhere except in Bilaspur was largely teaching women the beliefs and history of the Christian religion.

Miss Furman's missionary message will be an inspiration and motivation for the task which all women interested in Christian service are trying to carry on. All women are invited to hear Miss Furman, and to attend the Fellowship study classes.

Information regarding the Institute may be obtained by calling the church office.

Businessmen Find It Hard To Get Loans

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The farmer isn't the only one with money trouble today. Tight money and costly credit plague many businesses — especially the smaller and least known ones — looking with difficulty for the loans or new capital they want for operations or growth.

Some of the money tightness is said to be traceable to a rush to beat the further price rises that many foresee after this summer's wage talks.

Bankers say the demand for loans is effectively drying up available funds. Insurance companies, with total assets above 90 billion dollars, report they are largely loaned up in carrying for their regular customers.

At the same time, rising interest rates and investor choosiness are making some new corporate financing "sticky," and have caused some companies and local governments to cancel earlier plans to seek money in the market.

The prices of marketable U. S. government bonds have fallen — meaning that the yield on them has risen in line with the increase in returns on other forms of lending or investing.

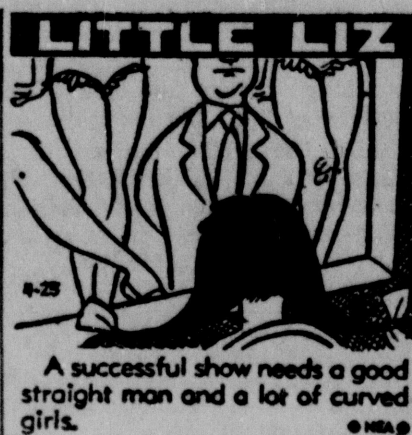

One prime indicator of the money market — the U. S. Treasury's 91-day bills sold each week — has just climbed to 2.788 per cent, the highest cost for such borrowing since the 1933 bank holiday when it touched 4.259 per cent. How much the Treasury has to pay to borrow each week usually shows how tight or easy the market may be — although weekly fluctuations themselves may reflect on temporary or special conditions.

Bankers say the federal reserve has been following rather than leading the money market — that its recent hike in the interest it charges member banks when they borrow was chiefly a step to get in line with rising interest charges everywhere as demands for loans have risen and available lending funds have shrunk. Bankers say the board isn't trying to make money tighter — it just isn't doing anything to make it easier.

Why the big rush this spring to borrow money? Over and above the usual need for credit in business operations have been two factors. One is that business inventories have been climbing. It takes money or credit to carry these inventories until they are used up eventually in production or through sales to consumers.

A second factor has been the unexpected stepping up of plans to spend for new plants and equipment. This has usually been explained as an urge to increase production capacity to meet future sales anticipation or to modernize and thus trim production costs. But bankers say that fear of

A successful show needs a good straight man and a lot of curved girls.

Porpoises kill sharks. Their weapons are their tough snouts, with which they butt the tender gill slits of their often larger adversaries.

In early Saxon times, the representative of the king for judicial and tax purposes was the shire-over the shire court.

Inflation may be behind the rush of business at this time to build up inventories and to place building contracts and equipment orders.

Extra Food Value for Your Meals

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Do you ever improve the food value of your family's meals by preparing some of your everyday dishes with instant nonfat dry milk powder? You can pack in extra protein, calcium and other minerals, plus B vitamins thiamin and riboflavin by reinforcing ordinary dishes in this economical way.

Here, for example, is an orange-flavored walnut quick bread. It's made with biscuit mix, and a half cup of instant nonfat dry milk powder adds extra nutrients. You'll find this loaf is pleasant to serve with a springtime salad; it's good, too, with a glass of milk or a cup of tea or coffee. The high proportion of milk solids in the loaf gives it a rich brown crust and a golden-brown top and it slices well.

ORANGE WALNUT LOAF

Ingredients: 1 egg, ¾ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon grated orange rind, 1½ cups fresh or frozen orange juice, 2½ cups biscuit mix, ½ cup instant nonfat dry milk powder, ¾ cup finely chopped walnuts.

Method: Beat egg in medium-sized mixing bowl enough to combine yolk and white. Add sugar, grated orange rind and orange juice; beat until well blended. Add biscuit mix and instant nonfat dry milk powder; beat gently just until dry ingredients are moistened. Fold in walnuts. Grease bottom of a loaf pan (9x4 by 5½ by 2½ inches); turn mixture into pan. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 50 to 60 minutes, until bread has shrunk from sides of pan and top is golden brown. (Top will crack). Turn out on a cake rack. When cold, store in a tightly covered container.

ORANGE WALNUT LOAF—Fine to have for snack time.

This bread may be cut in attractive slices as soon as cold; but for cutting in very thin slices, leave in tightly covered container overnight.

Note: If frozen orange concentrate is used, dilute according to directions on can, then measure the amount called for in recipe. The loaf may be made without the grated orange rind but it will not have a pronounced orange flavor.

FOR SMALL FRY

As an after-school snack, we think your youngsters will like this Taffy Milk Shake. (We enjoyed it ourselves during the testing!) It's a wonderful way to give children extra milk nutrients. Make this up before your youngsters come from school and refrigerate it so it's delightfully chilled. And perhaps you'll want to note that this makes a fine cold drink for the hot days ahead.

RICH TAFFY MILK SHAKE

Ingredients: For each serving—1 tablespoon dark molasses, 1 cup homogenized milk, ¼ cup instant nonfat dry milk powder.

Method: Beat the molasses and homogenized milk together in a bowl with a rotary beater. Sprinkle the milk powder over the surface. Beat together until the milk powder dissolves; make sure the molasses dissolves, too, because it has a tendency to stick at the bottom of the bowl. Serve at once or refrigerate before serving.

Note: For a more economical Taffy Milk Shake, use ½ cup homogenized milk and ½ cup very cold water. This won't be as full-bodied as the rich version, but it will have a good flavor.

Check on Feeding for Baby Week

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Take some tips from a wise Grandma. When she comes over to baby-sit while you shop -- or may be just have a few hours off -- she enjoys her grandchild wholeheartedly.

A Grandma who has benefited from her own experiences in bringing up children knows the best ways to establish good eating habits. Besides, when you weren't looking, she probably boned up on Doctor Spock.

1. Be a friendly companion during meals. Smiles do wonders while you're feeding baby.

2. When Baby starts on solid foods, allow him time to get used to them. He's a young explorer in a wide and wonderful world. But he's cautious. What's that stuff that has a soft consistency? Mmm, how about that different taste? How do you get such offerings to the back of your mouth and throat? How do you swallow the goo anyway?

3. Go on taking it easy. Baby's a natural rebel; if you shove his food into him, he's likely to get the idea that strained spinach and carrots aren't so wonderful -- or why all the hurry to force it down those tight little lips?

4. Prepare Baby for what lies ahead. He'll probably take weaning in his stride if you give him a cup or glass -- small enough for him to grasp -- several months before you plan to take him off the bottle. Have fun with him while he plays with the cup; look wildly approving when he starts putting his fingers around it and learns to hold it. In time he'll manage to sip a little orange juice or water from it and think he's a great guy. When he's good and used to this new and fascinating utensil, the chances are he'll be willing to take a little milk from it.

Sedalia UCW To Hold May Fellowship

The United Church Women of Sedalia will observe May Fellowship Day Friday, May 4, at the Calvary Episcopal Church, Broadway and Ohio, beginning with a luncheon at 12:30 p.m. Mrs. H. L. Netherton and Mrs. Cecil Bohon are co-chairmen of the meal and Mrs. Thomas Huffine is in charge of the dining room arrangements. They will be assisted by two representatives from each of the affiliate missions groups.

The table program is as follows: mealtime grace, Mrs. E. D. Sutherland; songspiration, Mrs. George Lovercamp with Mrs. J. W. Watts at the piano; subscriptions to "The Church Woman" official magazine of UCW, Mrs. Blanche Rose; projects and sustaining membership, Mrs. Sutherland.

The afternoon program will begin with a worship service conducted by Mrs. B. Y. Edelin. Mrs. Bohon will have charge of the offering assisted by Mrs. Luther Landis who will give the dedicatory prayer.

Mrs. T. E. Gasperson, Mrs. Emory Meyers, Mrs. D. F. Richards, Mrs. Waller Austin, Mrs. Clarence Becker, Mrs. Ernest Liebel, Mrs. John Meir, Mrs. Glenn Cox and Mrs. Phillip Hoffman will present a skit entitled: "They Say."

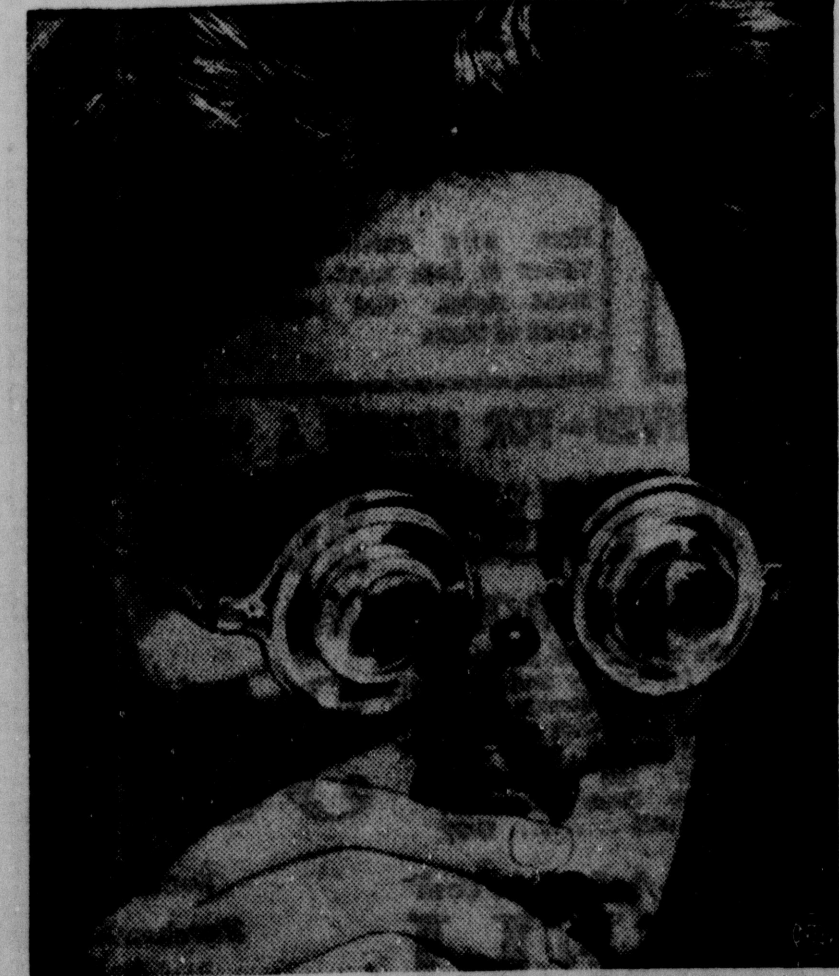

The general theme for the afternoon is the question "Who Frames Your Opinion?" The topic will be discussed by Mrs. C. F. Scotten.

A worship service conducted by Mrs. Price Alexander and Mrs. John Fair will conclude the program.

Tickets are still available from the presidents of the participating church groups.

Pettis Farmers Used 5,765 Tons of Plant Food for Fertility

Pettis County farmers helped maintain the fertility level of their soils by adding 5,765 tons of plant food in the first six months of 1955, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in a statement based on compilations by the University of Missouri.

For Missouri as a whole, total fertilizer use was 411,345 tons in the first half of this year, the statistics show.

"The steady increase in fertilizer use in Missouri in recent years," says the committee, "is indicative by the fact that farmers used six times as much fertilizer in the first six months of 1955, as in the entire year of 1949, when consumption amounted to 364,677 tons.

"Missouri farmers are using more fertilizer because they realize that it benefits them three ways:

"1--Fertilizer helps farmers beat the present cost-price squeeze by producing higher yields of corn, small grains, hay, pasture, meat and milk per acre at a lower cost, thus boosting net profits per acre; 2--Plant food is a high paying investment that can return as much as $3 to $5 for each dollar spent; 3--Fertilizer is essential in any soil building or conservation program designed to keep the fertility level at high crop-producing averages.

Robert Clough Tells of 4-H Work Projects

Robert Clough, who served as county agent in Pettis County from 1923 to 1928 and is now head of the 4-H department of the University of Missouri, Columbia, was the speaker at the rural-urban dinner meeting of the Rotary Club Monday night at Bothwell Hotel.

There are no better people than in Pettis County said Clough as he reminisced a little about people he had worked with, both in Rotary and in his job as county agent, and things that had happened during his years here.

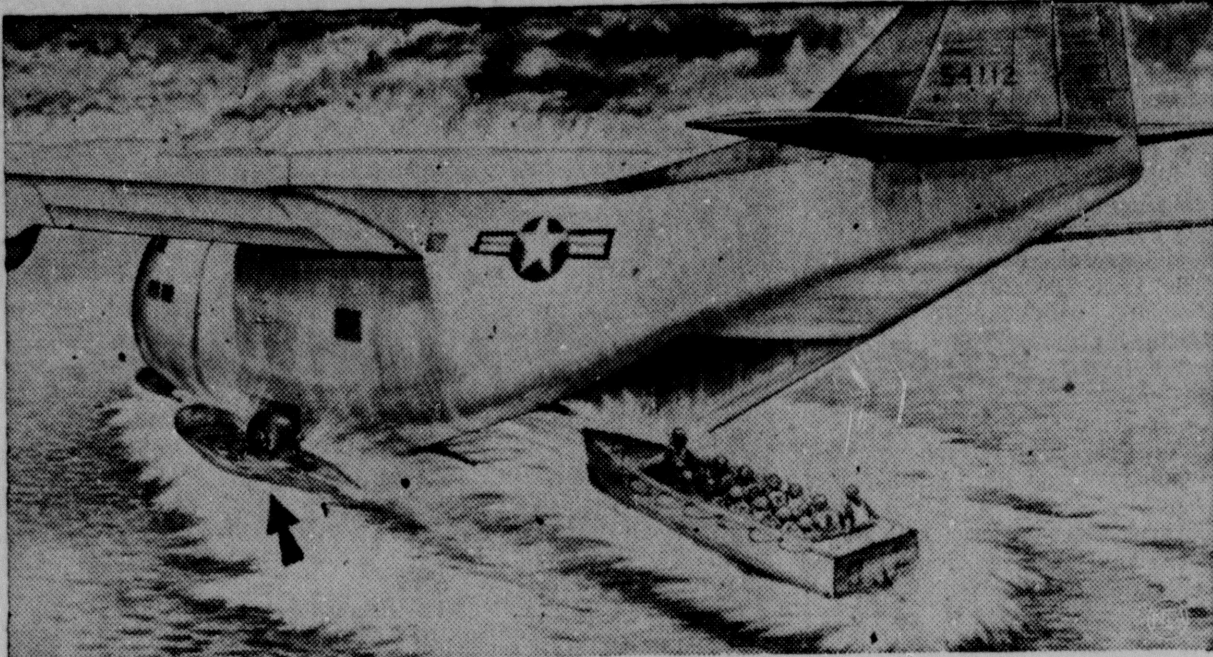

The 4-H program, said the speaker, is very much better now. It has the same hard core, built around projects, which, he explained, was when boys and girls undertook a common ordinary job to do it well. The 4-H clubs, he said, originated in 1914 and the idea then was to keep the boys on the farm, but today, Clough continued, we must face the fact that it can't be done entirely. More will leave the farms, and some will operate farms as an occupation while others will operate part-time to meet the needs of agriculture. In 1938, the 4-H organization became geographic and members could choose projects better to their liking, with the result of a better recreation and health programs in group effort. Wherever girls and boys go or whatever they do, they will work with people, and through 4-H clubs they are given an opportunity for experience to increase their achievements. There are no examinations but the projects must be finished. That is the kind of education 4-H offers, the speaker said.

Today, Clough continued, we are thinking more of the maturity level. 4-H from ten to 18 years of age is a wide span, and it is hard to try to build a program to meet all ages and so they are trying to build a program to meet all ages of development with the older ones accepting responsibility. Adults, he said, make a grave mistake when they underestimate the ability and talents of the older youngsters and fail to give them responsibility. This, he says, does not develop leadership.

Clough complimented Pettis County and stated this county had one of the best 4-H programs in the state. There are at present 580 4-H members in 31 clubs enrolled in 45 different projects. The ages are from ten to 21. The program is sponsored by the agriculture extension service of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture, and is under the direct supervision of the county agents and assistants. There are 183 leaders.

The speaker was introduced by Merle Vaughan, Pettis County agent.

Guests of the club included: Miss

BELLY-WHOPPING FOR BEACHLANDERS—The drawing above shows a new method for landing troops for beach invasions or what have you. With the landing boat secured inside the plane's fuselage, the plane taxis on a hydro-lift landing gear (combination ski-wheel), and lets the boat slip out the back. The assault boat, rolling on tracks into the water, proceeds to the beach under its own power while the aircraft takes off for another load. The patent for this new method has been granted to E. B. Graduation At Bothwell School Held Thursday

The program opened with the processional by Mrs. C. C. DeLozier at the piano and a song, "I Would Be True" by the seventh and eighth grades.

Invocation and the address were given by the Rev. Warren Green, pastor of Mt. Herman Church. Presentation of diplomas was by Dr. C. F. Scotten with Jan. Richards as diploma bearer. An impressive candlelighting service was held with Ruth Ann Wise, Janet Greer and Kay Rehmer as candlelighters, and was followed with benediction by the Rev. Mr. Green.

Baskets of flowers and candles by Del Heckart, president, with the Rev. Thomas W. Croxton giving the invocation. Lawrence Barnett led the group singing, with Miss Lillian Fox at the piano.

Emory Bowman told the guests the meaning of Rotary. Rotary, he said, is a spirit. "R." he continued, stands for religion, for Rotary embraces all faiths; "O" is for its objects, which include good will, understanding and service; "T" is for tomorrow, for tomorrow holds a challenge; "A" is for association of Rotary clubs in 96 countries; "R" is for resourcefulness; and "Y" is for "You" — the story of Rotary must be told to you.

On the rural-urban committee with the chairman, Merle Vaughan, are Oscar DeWolf and O. W. Wiley.

Dr. Scotten stated that Carol Sue Rader ranked in scholarship fifth in the eight month schools of Pettis County.

Friday, April 20, was the closing day of school and an all-day picnic and skating party was held at Liberty Park.

Friday evening a program was presented at the school which consisted of speeches and songs with Mrs. C. C. DeLozier at the piano.

After the program reading certificates, special awards and gifts were presented by the teacher, Mrs. Hugh Marshall.

Mrs. Marshall was presented a gift by the school children and community as she is leaving after four years at Bothwell. She was also presented a gift from the graduates. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall and son, Joe, are going to the State of California to reside.

An award for perfect attendance was given to Tommy Crain and reading certificates were presented Suzie Rader, Joan Reed, Alice Roberts, Janet Greer, Kay Rehmer, Lana Kay Richards, Roxana McFarland, Mary Jo Brown, Sandy Piers, Sharon Piers, Carol Spencer, Penny Piers and Kay Beth Sprinkles.

Caution Note Is Sounded By Business

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Amid the chorus of rising confidence that still better times lie ahead you can catch a few notes of caution today — if you're the type who cares to listen.

Most business leaders are stressing the bright outlook. However, a few warn their stockholders that the boom could run into moments of rough going.

The hesitancy of late in the stock market gives some pause. The late spring in many parts of the land dashes some hopes—particularly among those who had looked for a better revival in auto sales and home building.

Rising costs worry many manufacturers. Some stockholders wonder if this could foreshadow a leveling off in corporate profits after their long rise.

Tighter credit and climbing interest rates are bothering the financial officers of corporations who are seeking to raise new capital.

Many sales executives, particularly among the metal producers, wonder how much of their backlog of orders represents inventory building, carrying the chance of a drop in demand later on if customers' own sales should slip.

In recent days executives of top steel, aluminum and copper companies have pointed to signs of a balance of supply and demand ahead.

Easing of shortages of these metals will be a boon to many manufacturers, especially if it also means an easing of the upward pressure on prices. But business observers will watch the movement closely, since many times in the past the metals have made their big spurt at the end of a rise for the economy as a whole.

The oil industry is watching rising stocks of crude oil and its refined products. Texas is cutting back production next month some 150,000 barrels below the record daily output set in March.

In general, it appears to many that what may lie ahead is another of those periods of "rolling readjustments" that business has known since the war. The chief adjustments right now are in autos, housing and inventories.

MACHINE-CLEAN YOUR DENTINE—For people who want to save energy while brushing their teeth, John L. Petty, Jr., of Kennet, Mo., has devised this tooth-brushing machine. The 14-year-old lad rigged an ordinary toothbrush to gears and a small electric motor. The mechanism rapidly whirled the toothbrush back and forth as well as in the dentally approved up and down motion. Young Petty has this word of caution: the toothpaste should be applied to the teeth and not the brush, or the machine "will sling toothpaste all over the place."
